Support our foundations

Providence Alaska Foundation

Providence was built on philanthropy and the Providence Alaska Foundation is driven by this legacy of compassion and is committed to inspiring financial support for important programs and services that would not be possible without support from our community. We go the extra mile to honor our patients' dignity and fulfill the Mission of caring for the poor and vulnerable through our compassionate service.

Providence High School

Providence High School was established in 1955 by the Sisters of Providence with the goal of developing students to their full potential and providing them with an excellent college preparatory education. As a result of these challenging times, we are experiencing increasing requests for financial assistance and a number of families have been forced to withdraw their students due to financial hardship. Our commitment to produce graduates who are faith-filled persons, who are well integrated into society, are effective communicators, responsible citizens and life-long learners requires the support of benefactors such as you.

Providence Holy Cross Foundation – Mission Hills

The recently added patient care wing at Providence Holy Cross brought 138 new beds to the hospital, making it one of the largest hospitals in the San Fernando Valley. Today, Providence Holy Cross is working to become a Center of Excellence for Cardiology. In order to best serve the community, we have set a goal to have a fully operational hybrid operating room in place by early 2015. The hybrid operating room brings the benefits of today's advanced imagery into a sterile field. Our new dual purpose room will best serve the community by providing improved care through the use of leading-edge procedures. Please join us in supporting the building of a hybrid operating room at Providence Holy Cross as we embrace a tradition and culture of cross-discipline teamwork and collaboration.

Providence Saint Joseph Foundation – Burbank

Providence Saint Joseph Medical Center opened the new Roy and Patricia Disney Family Cancer Center in 2010 to provide patients and their families with a multidisciplinary team of world class specialists. This unique integrated approach to heal the body, mind and spirit generates success rates far above the national average and is the cornerstone of Providence Saint Joseph Medical Center. By coming together, we can triumph over a disease that touches so many. We invite you to discover more and help those facing cancer.

Providence Tarzana Medical Center Foundation

The County of Los Angeles has seen a dramatic decline in children's hospital beds over the last decade. This pediatric care crisis continues to escalate in the face of trends in population growth, economic recession and uninsured patients. To insure that the highest level of health care continues to be available to the children in this community, Providence Tarzana Foundation has launched the "Giving that Builds" campaign to re-locate and expand our existing pediatric intensive care unit. The unit is currently housed in a 40 year old space that is too small and has little privacy for our critically ill children and their parents. We are halfway to reaching our fundraising goal and need your help to cross the finish line! Please help our young patients and their families. Thank you!

Providence Little Company of Mary Foundation/Providence San Pedro

Since its inception in 1994, the Partners for Healthy Kids mobile pediatric van – funded solely through private gifts and community grants from foundations and corporations – has cared for more than 40,000 underserved and uninsured children. The traveling clinic provides medical services for nine elementary schools, one middle school and one high school every week throughout the school year. In 2011, there were 3,717 visits to the clinic, impacting 2,475 children. The professional health care staff provides diagnosis, treatment and referral for acute medical conditions, plus health education and immunizations. Gifts support children and families when they need it most.

Providence TrinityCare Hospice Foundation

Losing a beloved family member is a difficult journey. Providence TrinityCare Hospice provides much needed support medically, emotionally and in some cases financially, for end of life care. Founded in 1977, TrinityCare serves nearly 2,000 families each year. Our TrinityKids Care program is the only dedicated pediatric hospice and palliative care program in all of Los Angeles and Orange counties. We are nationally recognized for our strong commitment to quality patient care and our expansive breadth of services including palliative care and bereavement counseling. Now a new need has been identified: educating more clinicians. We are developing a formalized education program to educate physicians, nurses, social workers, pharmacists and chaplains in hospice and palliative care.

St. Patrick Hospital and Health Foundation & Saint Joseph Medical Center – Polson

For more than 130 years, the Sisters of Providence, as well as the employees and physicians at St. Patrick Hospital have provided the highest quality health care to our community. The foundation seeks gifts to support more than $10 million of free care provided at the hospital every year. We also develop funds to invest in new equipment and facilities, fund clinical and basic research and support rural health care facilities and providers in western Montana. Our fundraising efforts benefit St. Patrick Hospital, Montana Cancer Center, St. Joseph Medical Center, St. Patrick House and The International Heart Institute.

University of Great Falls

The University of Great Falls is a private, Catholic, liberal arts university located in Great Falls, Montana and a ministry of Providence Health & Services. We live by the Providence core values, which stress the values of respect, compassion, justice, excellence and stewardship. Today, our students cultivate their own individual styles of uncommon courage and exploring personal frontiers as they prepare for living and making a living. We ask them to question what it means to be human in the 21st century. They examine the life of the mind and what it takes to be a productive human being. They contemplate spiritual and religious dimensions of life.

St. Thomas Child and Family Center

St. Thomas was founded as an orphanage in 1908 by the Sisters of Providence. In addition to being an orphanage, it was a school and a boarding house for children who lived in rural areas, and even a safe place for children whose parents were faced with hard times. Changing to a child and family center came in the mid-60s, evolving from an orphanage to support services for women and children. St. Thomas was accredited in 2006 by The National Association for the Education of Young Children’s Washington, D.C. headquarters.

Providence Portland Medical Foundation

Providence Portland Medical Center is increasingly becoming a regional destination for health care services. When patients and their families travel to Portland, they often find themselves in unfamiliar surroundings at a vulnerable and stressful time in their lives. Finding affordable and convenient lodging can be a major challenge. Providence Portland plans to address that need with a new Patient and Family Guest House offering all the comforts of home. Located just a block from the hospital, this guest house will include thirty units in a peaceful and welcoming setting that offers opportunities for either privacy or fellowship. Families will be able to share their burdens with others as they heal together.

Providence St. Vincent Medical Foundation

From offering the latest technology for heart valve repair, to the child care needs of patient families, Providence St. Vincent Medical Foundation supports a wide variety of Mission-focused causes. The Providence Heart and Vascular Institute is pioneering the use of the revolutionary percutaneous (transcatheter) heart valve and has recently launched PlaySmart™, a donor-supported program that provides free heart screenings for young people. Donor support also helps fund My Little Waiting Room, our unique onsite child care center that provides free care for children of patients and hospital visitors. Your gift to the foundation can also support the nationally-recognized Telestroke Network and rapidly expanding telemedicine programs that serve rural communities in Oregon and Washington, and free mammograms for those with financial need.

Providence Child Center Foundation

Providence Child Center is a leader in caring for children with disabilities and is the only facility of its kind in the Pacific Northwest. The center's unique combination of services includes 24-hour skilled nursing care at the Center for Medically Fragile Children and the Swindells Resource Center providing families and professionals with information, referrals and educational guidance. These services are provided without financial burden to more than 10,000 families each year through the generosity of caring friends. Gifts to the Providence Child Center enrich the lives of children with disabilities and provide life changing support to their families.

Providence Milwaukie Foundation

Providence Milwaukie Foundation established the Community Health in Motion (CHIM) in 2007 to meet the growing health needs of Clackamas County's most poor and vulnerable families. CHIM provides free community clinics that provide immunizations to children, sports physicals for grades six through twelve, free bike helmets, emergency dental services and free flu vaccines. We work in conjunction with numerous community partners to provide these services. Programs such as CHIM are dependent on and can only exist with philanthropy and generosity of our community partners and our donors.

Providence Benedictine Nursing Center Foundation

The gardens at Providence Benedictine Nursing Center have been the source of countless smiles. They provide a delightful and restorative place for residents, families and staff. They serve as a backyard in which residents can socialize, read a book, do an activity with children from the child center, attend a concert, watch grandchildren chase butterflies, or pick an apple, blueberry or tomato. Creating the gardens has taken a village; it has been a fun and rewarding journey. We have become the happy victims of our success and it is time to think about how we will maintain this great resource. "Let's Dig It" is a project to raise at least $200,000 for an endowment (a permanent fund from which only the earnings are used) for the management of our beautiful therapeutic gardens. A gift from you will help ensure the establishment of that garden endowment.

Providence Hood River Memorial Hospital Foundation

Providence Hood River Memorial Hospital Foundation is dedicated to enhancing quality health care at Providence Hood River and the Gorge communities it serves, through philanthropy. The foundation was established to raise funds and awareness for patient programs and services that are not funded through the hospital's operating budget. Your generosity makes it possible for us to provide the finest medical technology and services while providing high quality care to each and every patient who comes through our doors – including those with little or no insurance.

Providence Seaside Hospital Foundation

Providence Seaside Hospital Foundation raises funds on behalf of the hospital. These funds are used for charitable, scientific and educational purposes. Research and experience show that better health and a fuller, more satisfying life are within our grasp when we make good, healthy choices. Our goal is to educate our community to look to the hospital for “continuous good health,” as well as health care during times of illness. Recent contributions to the hospital include physician recruitment, digital mammography, the surgery suite expansion and support for Providence Cares, a program providing access to health care for patients with little or no insurance coverage.

Providence Willamette Falls Medical Foundation

There is a long tradition of staff support of the foundation at Providence Willamette Falls. The funding focus for this year is the dramatic rise of the uninsured in our community and to increase their access to health care. A free clinic program, staffed by volunteer medical providers, is being planned by a collaborative group of medical providers and citizens. Foundation funds will assist with startup costs and a companion endowment fund will help with long term funding of the clinic as it grows.

Providence Newberg Health Foundation

Providence Newberg Neurodevelopmental Center for Children at Providence Newberg Medical Center provides compassionate care and specialized rehabilitation and services to children with special needs. Through generous community support, the HOPE for Children Fund continues to provide essential rehabilitation and therapy sessions for more than 160 children each year. Children receiving this outstanding care thrive as they develop new skills at a much faster pace. Two bound and determined brothers, Lucas and Moses have made significant progress with the specialized care they receive from Providence Newberg Pediatric Therapists. Lucas and Moses’ mother, Maria Smith, recently expressed her gratitude at the 2010 HOPE for Children Golf Tournament – benefitting the HOPE fund, “My boys have developed skills that we were told wouldn’t be possible. Our lives have been incredibly blessed by the HOPE fund.”

Providence Community Health Foundation – Medford

The Providence Community Health Foundation in Medford has the BJ Stormberg Fund which was named for a former Providence Medford Medical Center administrator who helped employees personally when he learned of their emergent needs. The BJ Stormberg Fund was created specifically for Providence employees who are faced with an urgent need and provides last-resort help in a crisis, emergency or unexpected hardship. Over the years, this fund has helped employees who were faced with a spouse’s sudden job loss or death, car accident, serious illness or house fire. The fund is supported solely by the annual Providence Employee Giving Campaign – employees helping employees. Please consider supporting our “helping hands fund,” the BJ Stormberg Fund.

Providence General Foundation – Everett

In 2011, Providence Regional Medical Center Everett opened the doors of the new, 12-story Cymbaluk Medical Tower. As part of this major milestone, the Providence General Foundation continues efforts to raise $25 million to support this historic project. The Providence General Foundation is pleased to once again offer an opportunity for employees to support the new Cymbaluk Medical Tower during this multi-year capital campaign.

Providence Hospice of Snohomish County

Palliative care is a unique, nationally recognized, team approach to decrease suffering and increase quality for end-of-life patients. A team of nurses, social workers, chaplains, volunteers and community resources reach out to patients and their families monthly to assess physical, emotional and spiritual well-being. The partners nurse becomes a single point of contact for issues and problems. Partners also provide education about hospice philosophy, mission and benefits to patient and family, thus enhancing hospice utilization and end-of-life quality care.

Providence Hospice of Seattle

You can help someone who's struggling with terminal illness or grief. We provide compassionate end-of-life care and grief support to adults and children in King County. We care for anyone in need, regardless of their ability to pay. This is possible only because of generous donors like you. Your donation will help someone like Jan and her granddaughter, Mia (pictured). Hospice made Jan's final days comfortable and peaceful. And grief counselors helped Mia deal with the death of her beloved grandma. Your donation will make a tremendous difference in someone's life.

Providence St. Peter Foundation – Olympia

The Providence St. Peter Foundation helps assure that compassionate and quality health care is available to the communities we serve, with special concern for those who are poor. Gifts through our foundation bring many possibilities into reality: vital facility expansions, new technology, patient care and service line support, education for staff, and Mission-driven programs such as No One Dies Alone, the Sexual Assault Clinic and charity care. The Providence St. Peter Foundation serves Providence St. Peter Hospital, Mother Joseph Care Center, Providence SoundHomeCare and Hospice, Providence Medical Group clinics and Providence St. Francis House.

Providence Health Care Foundation – Centralia

The greatest part of living is giving. You're invited to join a very special society of friends and supporters who believe in and want to further the legacy of the Sisters of Providence in our community. For more than 155 years, the Sisters of Providence have provided human services and health care excellence in this region. At this time, Providence Health Care Foundation supports Providence Centralia Hospital, Providence SoundHomeCare & Hospice, Blanchet House, Providence Place, Rossi House and cancer infusion services in Lacey, Aberdeen and Centralia.

Providence Mount Carmel Hospital Foundation – Colville

Providence Mount Carmel Hospital is a nationally award winning critical access hospital serving the tri-counties in northeast Washington. Centrally located in Colville, the hospital opened in 1919, was purchased by the Dominican Sisters in 1940 and in 1993, ownership was transferred to what is now Providence Health & Services. Today, Providence Mount Carmel Hospital is an exceptional, full service hospital offering advanced medical and surgical care with a staffed hospitalist and telestroke programs, as well as specialty support and outpatient services.

Providence St. Joseph’s Hospital Foundation – Chewelah

Providence St. Joseph’s Hospital and Long Term Care Unit is a critical access hospital serving the southern portion of Stevens County in Chewelah, Washington. The hospital was one of 10 VHA member critical access hospitals nationwide to receive the 2012 VHA Leadership Award for Clinical Excellence.

Providence Health Care Foundation, Eastern Washington

Nearly every day, Providence leaders receive letters of gratitude from patients who have received care. Continually, we read notes of heartfelt thanks, not just for the physical treatment they experienced, but for the support offered by employees who understand the value of caring for the whole person. When you participate in the employee giving campaign, your money goes directly toward programs you see in action every day. You help purchase equipment that makes care giving safer for your coworkers; technology that improves patient outcomes; education for staff to serve patients and innovative trauma care that saves lives.

Providence St. Mary Medical Center Circle of Caring Foundation

The Providence St. Mary Foundation is a not-for-profit organization whose mission is to support the programs, services and patient needs at Providence St. Mary Medical Center. For many years, charitable contributions have helped us add new technology, bring new services and greatly enhance the comfort and care of our patients.

Providence Health International (PHI)

In the inspirational document titled “Hopes and Aspirations,” the Sisters of Providence expressed their desire that outreach to those who are poor continue to be a central element of Providence Health & Services. Reaching beyond one’s borders to serve those in need is a fundamental piece of the Sisters of Providence legacy. That spirit continues today through programs and grants provided through Providence Health International.

100 percent of your gift will fund:

- Organizing teams of Providence employees to serve internationally.
- Supporting employees doing short-term volunteer medical trips with approved NGO’s.
- Providing donations of medical supplies through the PHI sponsored Mission warehouse (CHUMA).
- Supporting educational exchanges that create greater capacity to improve health.

Providence Marianwood Foundation

Providence Marianwood is a skilled nursing home located in Issaquah, Washington. It is a small ministry with 117 beds total, but it is filled with Mission and cares for some of the most poor and vulnerable in our community – the very elderly, chronically ill and disabled. The residents who make their home in long-term care at Marianwood are for the most part, in their 80's, 90's and 100's and are no longer able to live safely at home or in a lesser care setting. More than 70 percent have outlived their financial resources. Marianwood provides more than $1.5 million in uncompensated care costs annually and promises our elderly residents that this will be their home as long as they need us, regardless of their ability to pay.

Providence Mount St. Vincent Foundation

Providence Mount St. Vincent (The Mount) is an exceptional intergenerational living care community for older adults in which we celebrate life, living and individual capability. One delightful component of The Mount is our child care center and the opportunities for the children and our residents to interact in planned activities. Providence Mt. St. Vincent Foundation raises money to support the residents and programs of The Mount, especially those residents who have outlived their life savings. Donations also support programs that enrich their lives such as music, art and spiritual care.

Providence Senior & Community Services Special Events – Formerly Providence O'Christmas Trees

Celebrating 28 years of fundraising for Providence Senior and Community Services, O'Christmas Trees is a joyous and vibrant start to the holiday season. One of Providence's largest annual fundraisers O'Christmas Trees, raises more than $1 million in 2011 alone to help 15,200 people each day in need of health care, housing and hospice. This three day event culminates with the auction of beautifully designed holiday trees. Proceeds benefit Providence ElderPlace, Heritage House at the Market, Providence Hospice of Seattle, Providence Home Services, Providence Infusion and Pharmacy Services, Providence Supportive Housing, Providence Marianwood and Providence Mount St. Vincent.

Providence Supportive Housing

The Providence Supportive Housing ministry enables those who are poor and vulnerable living among us to meet their needs for safety, shelter and belonging. Fourteen independent living programs, owned or managed by Providence, provide housing and supportive service connections for people with low incomes, including the elderly, homeless, recent immigrants, people with AIDS and disabled veterans. The Providence Supportive Housing ministry strengthens the ability of our residents to live with independence and dignity and fosters overall health and well-being.

Sojourner Place

Sojourner Place, a ministry sponsored by the Sisters of Providence, serves homeless women who are actively seeking to move out of the cycle of poverty. Sojourner Place provides life skills, care management, a home and community and also serves women who are pregnant and/or who are in the process of reunification with their children.

Providence Regina House

Providence Regina House runs a food and clothing bank in the South Park neighborhood of Seattle and serves more than 450 families each week with food, clothing and household goods and serves all who come through the door, regardless of their physical address – no questions asked. Regina House has seen an enormous increase in their clientele – and most of the families they serve are the “working poor,” who work very hard yet, are unable to make ends meet. Providence Regina House also partners with the South Park Information and Resource Center to provide referrals for career and resume assistance, utility assistance, WIC and Food Stamps, rental assistance, medical and dental referrals, mental health resources and a multitude of other human services.

Swedish Medical Center Foundation

Swedish Medical Center has long been recognized by families in the Pacific Northwest as the gold standard for advanced, patient-centered obstetrics care. Across four birthing centers, Swedish provides the highest level of care for both routine and complicated deliveries. The medical, emotional and educational needs of mothers and infants do not, however, come to an end when they are released from the hospital. Swedish seeks your support for A Women & Infants Postpartum Wellness and Education Center, which would provide expanded access to comprehensive care for expectant, laboring, postpartum women, infants and their families. We invite you to help us create a warm and welcoming space for new and expecting mothers and their babies to conveniently access a full-spectrum of support. Together, we save lives every day and deliver healthy new ones.

Chuck Hawley Wonderful Life Fund

Chuck Hawley Wonderful Life Fund honors Charles “Chuck” Hawley, who was a member of Providence Ministries and dedicated his career to helping to ensure that all people, regardless of their age, disability, circumstance or faith, have access to care when they need it. The fund, administered by Providence Senior & Community Services, provides Providence ministries with special equipment, furnishings and services; special art classes, music therapy, field trips and recreational programs for those Providence serves; or where the need is greatest in the ministries.
