Wi-Fi Internet Access

Providence offers free wireless Internet access to our patients, guests and visitors. You can check e-mail, browse the wireless Web or work from the comfort of one of many locations where Wi-Fi is accessible.

What equipment do I need?

You can use your laptop, notebook or tablet PC to access the Internet. Some newer computers already are equipped with wireless capabilities. If your computer is not Wi-Fi ready, wireless network cards are available at most major electronics stores.

Get Connected ...

Step 1: Start with your computer device powered off. Make sure all network or wireless cards are properly installed and enabled.

Step 2: Start your computer and launch your browser. Your default Internet home page (e.g., Google, Yahoo, etc.) should open.

Still not connected? Try these steps ...

Step 3: Close your browser, turn off all proxies, firewalls or VPN programs. Restart your browser.

Step 4: Set your SSID to "guest" (lowercase letters without quotes).
